HEALING EXPERIENCE - Five years ago, Ruth Martin suffered "glare blindness" which forced her to wear sunglasses in daytime and prevented her from driving at night. An unexpected healing moved the family's belief in God "out of a t textbook and into life." Now sharing the day's experiences with Timmy (left) and Dave, she feels confident that God knows what he's doing even when it doesn't seem like it.

Upland woman 'healed'

Ruth Martin tells her story

"I'm grateful, but the healing is only a small part of what the Lord has done, said Ruth Martin of Upland.

Mrs. Martin's story is told in "God Healed Me," a newly published book by Robert J. Baker

For three years Mrs. Martin suffered "glare blindness" caused by a serious eye infection. She had to wear dark glasses in daytime to avoid severe headaches and loss of vision. Night driving was impossible because of the glare from on-coming headlights, she said.

The handicap was inconvenient but not really serious, and she could still care for her husband and four sons. More of a problem, she said, was the family's discouragement at not being accepted for overseas mission work and the loneliness of being newcomers to Upland.

One night her depression and loneliness were increased by the tension of bumper-to-bumper freeway traffic and the blinding pain of headlights, she Overwhelmed by despair, she prayed for a sign that her family were living as God wanted, she said.

'Suddenly, I could see clearly, headlights and all. The pain was gone,

Wonderful as that miracle was, her regained sight isn't the big change in her life, Mrs. Martin insisted. 'It's easy to concentrate on the healing because it is concrete. The inside changes aren't so obvious," she said. The healing resulted in a spiritual awakening, she said. "The Lord used it to get us going on a more real life with The strangest result came from reading the Bible, she said. None of the Martins had musical training, yet they found they were "almost hearing music"

Bicentennial committee to be formed

Upland City Council hopes to choose the city's bicentennial committee within the next month, according to Mayor Abner Haldeman.

The committee should include representatives from every aspect of community life including churches. schools, service clubs and the business community, he said.

It will coordinate Upland's bicentennial activities for the two-year period of the celebration. Haldeman said

Residents should submit names of prospective committee members to the city council or mayor in time for consideration at the Feb. 3 council meeting.

used a music chart to figure out what notes she was playing.

"It took us completely by surprise," she said. "The Lord has just given us the music to over 100 scriptures." Singing is an easy way to memorize scripture, and it has become one of the family's favorite entertainments since then, she

Mrs. Martin believes God used the healing to show her family He is "alive and around." God is working with "some real retarded children when He works with us," she said. "But if it happens in front of your face, it must really be

From her experiences Mrs. Martin said she has gained confidence that God knows what he's doing even when the purpose isn't obvious. But life still isn't easy and problems still exist, she said.

'A lot of things happen because we're living in a world that doesn't go God's way," she explained. When someone acts selfishly, others are hurt. "But nothing is so messed up that the Lord can't use it for good," she added.

The family would still like to find a specific Christian service, Mrs. Martin said. "But all we can do is wait to see what the Lord has in mind.

Council approves storage use permit

Upland City Council Monday approved

a conditional use permit for American Can Co. to store empty plastic containers on a property southwest of 19th Street and Campus Avenmue

The council required the company to store all containers inside the warehouse and limited to two the number of trucks it could use on the property at one time. Local residents had expressed concern about the appearance of the warehouse and noise caused by trucks transporting The facility has been upgraded and landscaped during the last several years.

according to Stan Tomlinson, attorney for Great Western Rose Co., which owns the property Tomlinson said American Can Co. trucks will no longer load containers on 19th Street, so traffic and noise will be less. He also said that the two-truck limit applies only to American Can Co. and not to Great Western Rose Co. The two companies operate simultaneously only three months of the year since Great Western Rose Co. operates only during the harvest season from December to February

In other action the council approved a tentative parcel map for two parcels owned by the Church of Christ north of

Ninth Street between Turquoise and Garnet Ways. The council had previously expressed concern that a rest home proposed for one parcel would generate too much traffic for the unimproved section of Turquoise at the corner of Ninth Street.

The council approved the tentative map when the owners and developers agreed to pay for installation of street and curbs.

Previous suggestions had included routing all traffic on Garnet Way which already serves several apartment complexes and the Church of Christ.

Council members also authorized cit staff to call for bids for construction of two reservoirs to expand the city's water Plans drawn by Engineering-Science Inc. include a 5-million-gallon reservoir

Memorial project

Mission chapel a tribute to Father Mackey

The late Father Joseph C. Mackey, who founded and built Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church in Montclair and its related parochial school, has been memorialized in a mission chapel.

A contribution of $1,000-raised and collected by members of the Father Mackey Memorial Committee—made possible the construction of a chapel in the Phillipines by the Columban Fathers, who minister missionary work all over the world.

In addition, the memorial committee, shortly after their pastor died last year rededicated the church

Education programs available to schools

The Ontario-Montclair School District's instruction staff learned recently that 93 proven effective innovative education programs are available to schools at no charge.

Dr. Carroll Lang, California State Facilitator for the Adoption of Federal Innovative Programs, spoke to the Ontario-Montclair instruction staff at the invitation of Mrs. Marjorie Gillespie, assistant superintendent of

In addition to information about new programs for educating children, Lang emphasized the importance of community education, and the possibility of implementing an M.A. program in the district, which would offer the M.A. in Program Development and Evaluation. The advantage of this degree program would be that the candidate would learn while on the job.

The 93 innovative programs Lang mentioned were developed under the federally funded Title III Program, which was begun to encourage educators to experiment in progressive educational methods. The developer of a new method applies for funds to put his idea in practice, and if it is successful, his project becomes a model for other schools to follow.

Lang told the staff that the federal government is now most anxious to make the nation's educators aware that these pilot projects are available for implementation in their schools at no cost to the schools themselves.

In an effort to accomplish this, officials are sponsoring a gigantic "Education Fair" on March 3 and 4, aboard the Queen Mary at Long Beach. For $10, an educator or interested community member can attend 10 project demonstrations a day, and receive a dinner at the end of the day. Evenings are reserved for personal conferences with developers, who will be available at a later date to help schools implement the programs.

Good news for all mushroom lovers

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good. Take mush- was a need to look at all rooms, for example. The Food and Drug Administration recalled several brands of canned mushrooms during the past nine months to check for Although no cases of botulism have been reported and no evidence of the deadly spores was found in the recalled cans, many people have been mixture thickens; stir frightened unnecessarily. The sales of canned mushrooms therefore have dropped.

> Fresh mushrooms were not included in any recall. In California 60 per cent of the crop is sold fresh and along the eastern seaboard, 34 per cent. These come in pound packages or in three-pound wooden

For use in salads, in stuffings, marinated, or sauteed with meat, etc., their milky taste and extreme lowness in calories, make fresh mushrooms highly desirable.

The price of fresh mushrooms is down because the supply is up since growers are turning more of their crop into fresh sales to offset the temporary scare of botulism in the canned products.

Don Berreth of the FDA explains that no health problems have developed from eating fresh, frozen or dehydrated

"But the FDA decided there warehouse stocks of canned mushrooms. So in September we initiated a warehouse survey of 75 million cans. In a few cases, we had to have specific canners recall their product for further inspection. But as a result, there have been no reported cases of death or explains.

"The botulism problems which have been associated with canned mushrooms cannot possibly develop in fresh mushrooms or any other fresh, uncanned vegetable. A botulin toxin is only produced when the organisms can grow in the absence of air, such as in a sealed, airtight can.

"Further the majority of mushroom canners in the United States have not been involved in the product recalls which have been announced over this past year. Given proper processing - adequate heat treatment - canned mushrooms are thoroughly safe and not subject to any botulism problems. Canned mushrooms have been produced for over 50 years and in the last decade, for example, 2 billion cans of them have been marketed with no record of illness resulting from

Delicious Fig Oatmeal Cookies

Bake up a batch of the 'cookiest' cookies in town!

Hearty, nutritious and absolutely delicious! Fig Oatmeal Cookies are taste pleasers that appeal to children - of all ages.

The crust bakes up brown and chewy with that hearty oatmeal texture. The fig filling is perfect, sparkled with a tangy dash of lemon. And the result is a cookie you'll be asked to make again, and again.

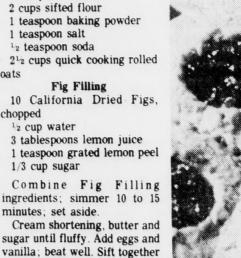

Discover the wonderful bonus of having tree-ripened, sundried California Figs in your pantry. They're not only great as a filling for cookies, they're great to use in many desserts that call for other dried fruits you may not have on hand. And for guick food energy, they provide a good-tasting, nutritious snack.

Another good reason for having a supply of California Dried Figs on hand is that they're always "in season" and always available on your grocery shelf. Figs are a concentrated source of natural nourishment that's so good and good for your.

"Italy's Fabled Sea" will be be a tour around the Bay of the presentation of the Claremont Travel Film Series at 2 and 8 p. m. Friday in Garrison Theater in Claremont.

Jonathan Hagar will narrate the picture which is a benefit project for the Development Fund of Pomona College and sponsored by the Mt. Baldy Council, Women's Campus Club of Pomona College. Courtesy coffee will be served in the lobby during intermission of the evening show

The film is dedicated to the Italian immigrants who helped make America great. This film is the story of people and places they left behind on the shores of the Tyrrhenian Sea, the heart of the Mediterranean.

In Reel 1, the viewers will sail with swordfishermen in the wake of Ulysses, near Scylla's fearsome rock. Then there will celebrate Corpus Christi.

will present the silent film classic "The Hunchback of tracted enthusiastic audiences. 'The Hunchback of Notre Notre Dame' starring Long Dame" was adapted from the Victor Hugo novel dealing with as the second event in the silent film series at the Garrison Paris during the reign of Louis XI. The film was made fiftytwo years ago, and is still found in the Motion Picture professor of music and college organist emeritus at Pomona Almanac's yearly listing of the College and Claremont 100 best motion pictures since the inception of the medium. Graduate School, will accompany the film with an original Excellent reprints are still score played on the electronic available of this classic.

Lon Chaney was advanced to stardom with "The Hunchback." His pantomimic interpretation of the dwarf Quasimodo is still considered one of the great screen presentations of all time. Chaney devised the makeup himself. It included a breastplate, shoulder pads, a 70-pound rubber hump, and a skintight rubber suit covered with animal hair. Chaney's face was misshapen with mortician's wax and he wore fang-like teeth and a device to hold his mouth open. The elaborate sets in which whole Parisian streets were re-created are sensational Tickets may be purchased in advance at Bridges Auditorium Box Office, phone 626-4523, or at the Garrison Theater a halfhour before curtain.

Church News

Bell United Methodist

Bell Memorial United Methodist Church, 1747 Nogales St., Rowland Heights, invites the public to hear Bundit Watanaportn perform with piano and son, 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 9.

Watanaportn's program will be of particular importance to Christians for he is a third generation Christian and speaks enthusiastically of his association with missionaries in his native country, Thailand.

His music and voice, as well as his paintings, which will be on display and for sale at the church, assist in financing his schooling at La Verne College where he is a senior.

Christ Lutheran

Couples and Singles clubs of Christ Lutheran Church of Chino will gather in the parish hall at 7 p.m. Sunday for a mixer. The evening will include an abbreviated session of the Stargazers who will view the moon, Saturn and Jupiter. Area residents are invited to join in the program, according to the Rev. Aaron L. Plueger, pastor.

Rev. Plueger will speak about "Christ our Healer" at the Sunday morning services at 8:15 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. Bible classes for all ages will meet at 9:30 a.m. The church is at 5500 Francis Ave., Chino

SD First Baptist

Wilbur Chapman Rooke, evangelist and world traveler, will hold a series of services in the First Baptist Church of San Dimas, San Dimas Avenue at Second Street, San Dimas,

Rev. Rooke has pastored six churches over a period of nearly 35 years. He has served on the Council of 14 of the General Association of Regular Baptist Churches and was a board member of four colleges in Michigan and Ohio.

He has done considerable traveling including nine trips to Europe, seven to the Holy Land, Egypt, Turkey and others, sometimes acting as tour guide and narrator, and one trip to

He is a student of the Bible and will be preaching at all services, beginning Jan. 26 at 11 a.m. and continuing through Friday at 7 p.m.

Everyone is invited, said Rev. K. T. Larrabee, pastor of the First Baptist Church

LV Presbyterian

The Claremont Methodist Bell Choir, directed by Jane Weidhofer, will play at the 10 a.m. morning worship service of the La Verne Heights Presbyterian Church Sunday. In addition to rendering two anthems, the choir will also play a 10-minute prelude prior to the service.

Puffets" at Garrison Theater, caught in their toils. The Claremont Colleges, Claremont, Saturday morning, Jan. 25 at 10:30 a.m.

Unique in design and mysterious operation, "The Puffets" create animated effects and an aura of independent action. The wacky stars of the show are life-size fantasy characters that breathe the life and beauty of never-never land. Tiny, petite Mme. Rara Avis, a baby hippopotamus, be-decked in jewels, dances on point in a delightful display of dazzling derring do!

Hank Higgins' Puffets evolved from an oriental form of puppetry, the Bunraku Doll Theatre of Japan. "The Puffets" were once smaller and operated by hidden puppeteers. but early in the 18th century. the dolls grew to almost half the size of humans, their machinery became more intricate, and the manipulators became visible. In order for Hank's puppets to move so magically and so lifelike. Hank designed and developed a special new technique for operating "The Puffets." The first thing to do were the strings. There are no strings on Puffets. Two Puffet operators control a single Puffet from behind. Controllers wear black velvet costumes complete with hood and black net face masks. These blackclad operators perform against a blackdrop.

The manipulators undergo rigorous training, for the doll movements, complex and extremely life-like, require many years of experience before the two puppeteers can work as a harmonious single human be-

Riding in trailers permitted

An amendment recently added to the state vehicle code now permits passengers to ride in trailer coaches and camper trailers, according to Capt. W.C. Jones, commander of the local highway patrol office.

However, the amendment allows for passengers only under certain conditions. Prior to the change, passengers were prohibited from riding in any type of towed trailer at all

The amendment, which went into effect Jan. 1, provides an exception to the prohibition against towing a trailer coach or camper containing passengers. Riding is now allowed but only if the trailer is towed with a fifth-wheel device. The law now requires a trailer coach containing passengers also to be equipped with safety glazing materials in windows and doors, and to have an audible or visual signaling device which a passenger can use to gain the attention of the

At least one unobstructed exit capable of being open from both the interior and exterior of the coach or trailer towed is also required if passengers are permitted. Capt. Jones has instructed his officers to "take the appropriate enforcement action to reduce violations of the new amendment as a necessary step in reducing accidents involving trailers with passengers.
